

In the quest to promote universal knowledge and create Western institutions in Africa, the intellectual contributions of Africans without university certificates or connections to the academy have been maligned, ignored or slighted. Yet, as Toyin Falola's book points out, there are African scholars and thinkers without academic credentials doing important works. Here is a book that shows that intellectual contributions need not be divorced from the concerns of local communities or deliberately promote narrative inequality and distance.

A Mothers Love, The Avant-Garde and the Margin: New Territories of Modernism, New York: Sights Unscene, The First Noel: A Board Book and Play Piece (Story Bright Book), History Of The Early Kings Of Persia: From Kaiomars, The First Of The Peshdadian Dynasty, To The Conquest Of Iran By Alexander The Great, Modern Orthodoxies: Judaic Imaginative Journeys of the Twentieth Century (Routledge Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Literature), The making of an insurgent,,: An autobiography, 1882-1919, Healing: Psychological Healing in the Catholic Mystic Tradition, Strategic Operations Management: The New Competitive Advantage, The corrosion of mathematics teaching: An analysis of current mathematics teaching and an ethics based alternative,
